FAIR AND THE RACES

Indianapolis Boy Wins the 2:20 Pace and Earns a Good Mark.

Attendance of Yesterday Was Rather Slender-Among the Exhibits of Live Stock.

The State fair races, yesterday, were deserving of a much better attendance than they received. There were just enough people in the big grand stand to give it an extreme sense of loneliness. The Indianapolis band played its old repertoire of popular airs, much to the delectation of a few small boys who clambored over the pron rails of the boxes. The racing card was followed out in its entirety, and there were no features to mar the sport, or even to distinguish it from an average day of racing. The first two events were well filled and a number of the finishes were exciting. The two-year-old pacing race was contested by only three youngsters. The scratches in the first races were due largely to the wreck on the Big Four, as several of the horses that were to start in these races were in the wreck. None of them were badly injured, but they were pretty well shaken up. A few reached the grounds after the flag fell on the first race. Joe Ray, who has charge of Cecil Bros.' stables, of Danville, Ky., was tied up in the wreck with the entire stable that he has under his charge this trip.

A man new to an Indianapolis audience waved the flag yesterday. He was Clem Creveling, of St. Louis, who has been offiplating at the Terre Haute track. His work yesterday was good, and he will have charge of this part of the programme the remainder of the week. The judges were M. A. McDonald, of West Lebanon, Wm. Baker, of this city, and C. H. Antony, of Muncie. The timers were Horace Brown, of Indianapolis, and Hiram Bacon, of Greenfield.

It took four heats to settle the first race, the 2:20 pace for a thousand-dollar purse, Nellie O., a pretty little chestnut mare, showed good speed in the first heat and won the heat because Indianapolis Boy did not start to win in time. Nellie O. had the lead all the way and Pat Murphy, driven by Ben Walker, was close to her. Indianspolis Boy was fifth when the last turn was made, and he came up from this position and robbed Pat Murphy of the place. The time of this heat, as well as that of the second, was 2:134. Nellie O. started to pilot the others around in the second heat, after the flyers had scored seven times. Indianapolis Boy lay within challenging distance all the while, Freeland trailing as third. Pat Murphy was fifth and closed up a big gap before the race was over, but it tired him too much to win. After the distance flag had been passed, Indianapolis Boy started in to win, and as Nellie O. gave up within a dozen yards of the wire, while Indianapolis Boy was at her side, the son of Indianapolis had an easy victory. Nellie O. was beaten off by Freeland and Pat Murphy. Indianapolis Boy showed the way all around in the next heat, Freeland making a struggle with him for the position. The others were well strung out until the end of the back stretch was reached when they began to close up. Although Indianapolis Boy led for quite a distance Freeland was hardly a neck behind him. Freeland stopped pacing in the stretch and Nellie O. came up with one of her characteristic rushes, finishing second. Four times did the starter send them back before they were off for the final heat. Indianapolis Boy and Freeland began to play the star engagement again, while the others merely looked on. Pat Murphy made a spurt for third place, but gave up at the seveneighths. Then Little Frank showed upusual speed, but Rolo, who was not expected to do anything, came up from the ontside and took second place, Indianapolis Boy having it all his own way for first place and the race. Cartridge, a black stallion, who won the race at Chicago last week, had no trouble in jogging away with the 2:25 trot. He laid back in the first heat until close to the wire, and then came up and poked his nose under the wire first, disappointing Diamond Joe, who had been leading down the stretch. Litta had a good showing had she not broken and acted badly at the end of the back stretch. Gamer led for a moment at the three-quarters. Cartridge had to go close to the outer rail to win. After scoring six times in the second heat, Cartridge got away first and won as he pleased, the others trailing in string bean fashion. Diamond Joe made a good race. Gamer finished ahead of Litta, but the indges set him back on account of numerons breaks and because his driver broke the rules. The third and last heat was almost a repetition of the second one. Cartridge showed his heels to his competitors. Diamond Joe tried hard to take the heat from him, but he never got close enough to

Time-2:204, 2:184, 2:20. The last race on the card, for which there were seven entries, narrowed down to three when the flag fell. The youngsters broke frequently. It was thought that George Wallace, a son of Gambetta Wilkes. would have a good chance on account of his breeding, but the filly Dawson Lake showed that she was either better trained or had more speed. She easily won both of the heats necessary to settle the winner. All broke soon after getting off in the first heat, and seesawed for awhile, but Dawson Lake settled down and paced well. Wallace came within challenging distance at the beginning of the last turn, but broke so badly that he had to be pulled up. He finished second, however. Vistagie took the lead in the second heat on a break by Dawson Lake. Dawson Lake settled down and the trio were well bunched in the back stretch. Dawson made a great rush past the other two and won easily. Vistagie finished second and divided second and third money with George Wallace. The time in the second heat, 2:20, was good for two-yearolds. The following is the summary: Breeders' stake; foals of 1891, value of stakes, $ .00; two out of three.

ATTENDANCE NOT LARGE.

School Children Given No Holiday-Exhibits

Filling Up.

The crowd at the fair yesterday was not as large as was expected. But the crowds are usually small on Tuesday, and there is reason to believe that the attendance today will be much larger. The fair management had fully expected the school children would attend in large numbers. The school authorities announced, however, that there would be no vacation. This was thought the necessary thing to do, since the schools opened one week late. Saperintendent Jones said yesterday that if the fair management would make Friday children's day the holiday would be allowed. To allow a holiday on Tuesday of the ruling of the authorities, however, a number of children were there. There was a great deal more activity on the grounds yesterday than on Monday afternoon. The different departments filled rapidly with exhibits. Among the additions made yesterday were many buggies, wagons and farm implements. The horticultural and agricultural departments have filled much better than was expected. The woman's department is one of the busiest on the grounds. There are many breaks in upon the week's work. In spite beautiful exhibits in this department. The management have extended an invitation to the inmates of the county poor asylum to attend the fair free to-day. The superintendent of the poor farm announced last night that fully two hundred would attend. LIVE STOCK EXHIBIT.

Things to Be Seen Among the Horses, Cattle, Hogs and Sheep. Whatever may be the fluctuations of markets or the condition of weather, the interest in the breeding of blooded stock in Indiana increases from year to year. This is apparent to the visitors at the State fair. Everybody is proud of the display of stock, both as regards the character and number of entries. The awarding of premiums began yesterday. Among the first exhibits were the first five classes in heavy draft horses. O. M. Smith, the indge, awarded the following premiums: On French draft horses, four years old and over, J. W. McNamee, New Palestine, first; also first on colt under one year. the same class of mares Mr. McNamee took the following premiums: Four years old and over, first and second: three years old and under four, first and second; two years old and unde. three, first; one year old and under two, first and second; colt under one year old, first.

In Class 2, Percheon stallions, Mc-Laughlin Bros., Columbus, O., were awarded first premiums on four and three-year-olds. J. W. McNamee received first on colt one year old: first on mare four years old. In Class 3, Clydesdale stallions, W. A. Banks, LaPorte, received first on stalllons four, three and two years old, and colt under one year; second on stallion one year old. The Brookside Farm Company, Fort Wayne, first on stallion oue year old, and second on stallions four, three and one year old. On mares four, three, two years old, and colt under one year, Brookeide Farm Company received first. Mare one year old, W. A. Banks first. Brookside Farm Company first on colt, second on yearling; S. W. Fletcher, city, second on

In Class 4. George E. McKaig, Chicago, first on stallion one year old; Thomson & Bland, Crawfordsville, first on stallion three years old; L. W. Cochran, Crawfordsville, second on stalion four years old; Geo. E. McKaig, first on mares two and one year old. In Class 5, Belgians, J. T. Pressly, city, received first on stallion four years old, and John Shields, Nora, Ind., second.

In the cattle department all of the dairy breeds were to have been shown yesterday, but the exhibitors were not all ready. There were no cattle shown aside from the Ayrahires. L. S. Fitch, the judge of this department, awarded all the premiums to J. P. Beaty, Pataskala, O. The class included buils from one to three years old and cows and heifers from one to three years old and over. The display of sheep is as good as was ever seen at the fair. The pens are well filled with the best stock from Indiana and Ohio. A few premiums were awarded yesterday but the list was not completed and returned to the secretary. Last year the swine exhibit was so large that new pens had to be built. The pens this year are nearly all full. S. C. Rousch, judge, yesterday awarded premiums on Essex and Berkshire hogs. The premiums were: First on sow under twelve months. second on boar under twelve months. Jasper Heck, Waldron, Ind. First on sows one and two years old to E. V. Waldron. Van Wert, O. W. G. Riley, Thorntown, first on boars six and twelve months old: first on sow under six months; first on five shoats under six months; second on boars six and twelve months; second on sows one and two years old and six months old. In sweepstakes Jasper Heck received first on sow, and on sow and pigs; W. G. Riley. first on boar, on herd under one year, on five pigs under twelve months. In Class 35, Essex, M. H. Walworth, Hillsdale, Mich., received first on boar two years old, and six months old: first on sow one year old; second on boar one year old and six months old: second on sow one year old. A. C. Green, Winchester, first on boar year old, and on five shoats under six months; W. J. Neely, Brook-Mich., first on boar twelve months, and on sow under six months. In sweepstakes A. C. Green took first on boar, sew, five pigs, sow and five pig; W. J. Neeley on herd under one year, second on boar and sows over one year. Indiana has a great reputation for fine poultry. The best breeders of the State have exhibits on the ground, and great interest is taken in that department. The judge on poultry is J. N. Barker. The preminm list is large, and it will be impossible to get the awards of prizes before to-day.

MISSISSIPPI VALLEY DOCTORS.

Character of the Coming Meeting of the Society in This City.

The Mississippi Valley Medical Association, which is to meet in this city on Oct. 4.5 and 6, will bring about eight hundred physicians and their wives here. At the annual meeting in Cincinnati, last October, there were delegates in attendance from every State in the Union. The association was organized nineteen years ago as the Tri-State Medical Society, but ten years ago, after all the States in the Mississippi valley were made eligible to membership, the name of the organization was changed. Now members are admitted from all the States. This is the first time so large a convention of the kind has come to Indianapolis. Dr. W. N. Wishard, of this city, has the honor of being one of the vice presidents of the association, while Dr. F. C. Woodburn is secretary. The secretary is preparing a programme of 125 papers. Over ten thousand documents have been sent out announcing the meeting.

The general sessions of the association will be held in Plymouth Church, and sectional meetings will be held in other chuches. On Wednesday evening a reception will be given the visitors at the Deni-

HE CAN BORROW AGAIN

Controller Given Authority to Make Another Costly Loan.

Sixty-Cent Tax Ordinance Introduced-That Made a Year Ago Was to Catch Votes.

The temporary loan ordinance was shot through the special meeting of the Council last night. Rassmann presided, and all the councilmen were present save Messrs. Gasper, Halloran and Murphy. The report of the finance committee recommending the authorizing of the temporary loan asked by Controller Woollen was read by Councilman Ryan, who immediately moved that the Council concur in the report. The motion was adopted and the ordinance read the first time. The committee then read a report recommending that an ordinance be adopted fixing the tax levy at 60 cents, and the report was concurred in. After this the temporary loan ordinance was read the second time and engrossed. It was then read for the third time and went to vote upon its passage. It was carried by a vote of sixteen yeas to two nays. The vote was as follows:

Yeas-Allen, Colter, Costello, Froschauer, Gauss, Habeney, Laut, Linn, McGuffin, Rass-mann, Ryan, Schmidt, Schrader, Sherrer, White

Nays-Cooper and Puryear. The Republican members who voted for the ordinance did so because they believed the loau necessary and they sharply criticised the policy which made it necessary to resort to such frequent temporary loans. Mr. Allen asked that some member of the finance committee explain to him why the estimate made by the controller a short time ago had proved to be so far short of the required amount that it was now found necessary to make another temporary loan of $40,000. He said he did not desire to throw any obstacles in the way of the administration, and if the loan was necessary he would vote aye. Mr. Cooper voted against the loan, and explained his vote when it was cast. . "You remember," he said, "my position when this question came up before. When you wanted to cut down the controller's estimate for the tax levy, and did out it down from 70 to 60 cents, you well remember I told you at that time you would be finding recourse to temporary loans, and that the cutting down of the levy was merely for political purposes. I was then in favor of making the levy 70 cents, as recommended by the controller, and I vote

Mr. Young said: "I think the mistake in these financial transactions was made in not refunding the bonds in July. If that had been done you would have saved enough in interest to have carried you through without these temporary loans."

When the loan ordinance was disposed of the ordinance fixing the tax levy at 60 cents was introduced and an effort made to run it through at this meeting. An objection was raised to this procedure by Mr. Young, on the grounds that the ordinance had not received careful consideration from the committee. He said he did not believe the ordinance had been considered by the committee at all, nor did he believe they had had a meeting since the recommendation of the controller had been received, the night before. "Yes it has," answered Rassmann from

"Are you the committee?" asked Young, and Rassmann smiled. Finding that there were objections to shooting through the Council the tax levy in the same manner in which the loan ordinance had been sent through, a call, signed by nearly every Democratic mem-

the chair, "I have considered it very care-ber of the Council, was read calling for another special meeting of the Conneil at 10 o'clock this morning, at which the ordinance will be passed.

Admit It Was Buncombe, The policy of the Democratic members of the finance committee now, as in the past, is for an inadequate tax levy, made for political purposes, and then upon the failure of the funds realized to resort to temporary loans at a high rate of interest. The scheme was so flimsy that it has always been apparent to every one, and when accused of this sort of political trickery in the fixing of the levy Councilman Gauss, of the finance committee, as well as nearly every member of the committee, admitted that they knew this levy to be insufficient, but that it was made thus low for political purposes. This year the controller, having been given to understand that he must not recommend a higher levy and put the Council under the obligation of reducing it, recommended the levy at 60

SMITH AND THE ROBY BILL.

Attorney-General Talks of a Big "Combine" in the Legislature.

As time goes on there seems to be a growing desire on the part of Attorney-general A. G. Smith to refute certain allegations which have been made in print concerning connections which he asserts never existed between himself and the Roby bill. Mr. Smith uses no doubtful superlatives when referring to the editorial in the Indianapolis Journal during the time of his recent visit to the springs in Colorado. The Attorney-general very forcibly affirms that the nefarious Roby bill was neither the product of his office nor was it framed in office, nor by any person or persons who are directly or indirectly connected with his office, nor with his direction, aid or consent, and that its passage was the work of an unscrupulous lobby, with the heip of a few members of the Legislature. He further avers that the passage of the bill was accomplished before he had any knowledge of its existence. The bill did not bear on its face evidences which the ordinary mind would recognize as being of evil tendencies, "Furthermore," he says, "the socalled Roby bill did not, by any of its provisions, authorize prize fighting. Nor does it authorize the organization clubs for the purpose of carrying on such criminal sports. Mr. Smith goes on to put a complexion upon the inflences which prevailed in securing the passage of the bill that is not generally known and may be a piece of news to a great many people. He states that it was with the assistance and infinence of prominent representatives of corporations that a pool was made whereby certain measures were to be considered by the Legislature, among which was the Roby bill, Monon railroad bill, city officers' bill and others, in consideration of which certain gentlemen representing the corporations of this State, notably the Western Union Telegraph Company and Pullman Palace Car Company, agreed that they would aid in the passage of these measures if their friends would assist them in the defeat of the amendments to the general tax law and the sleeping-car bill. So it would seem at this late day some excuse and some avenue of escape is conjured up by the facile Attorney-general for himself as well as Governor Matthews, for whom he indirectly pleads ignorance. The broad and generous piea of ignorance is also entered for every Democratic legislator through whose vote the bill became a law, and through whose sanction the State of Indiana became the rendezvous of Chicago's most victous element. The cunning and craftiness of the Senator from Tippecanor, it was admitted on all sides, was too much for the understanding of his fellows. It is possible after all that this same ples of ignorance will be found the most extenuating. And in the language of the belligerent Attorney-general, why curse the political keeping of the State for its stupidityf

The McPeeks Did the Job.

The notorious McPeeks, Abe and John, were arrested yesterday morning by Sergeant Hyland on the charge of loitering. Later in the day the prisoners were brought before Mrs. Emma McGinty, the woman who was robbed on the market last Saturday night. Mrs. McGinty had already identified Ed Graham as one of the three men who helped her on the street car and then picked her pockets. She also assured the police that the McPeeks were the other two. They will be held.

LEVYING ON THE FIREMEN.

By Promises and Threats Compelled to Swell Sullivan's Funds.

Finding that the corruption fund drawn from the gamblers was subjected to an exceedingly heavy drain, owing to the magnitude of the opposition to Democracy in the ranks of Democracy, the managers of the municipal campaign have been compelled to resort to other sources. The fire department has been worked by the managers in more ways than one, and when they found the demands upon the corruption fund increasing they turned their attention to an effort to extort funds from the firemen. They wanted $5 from every member of the department. No trouble was anticipated in securing the amount from the Democratic members of the department, but the puzzling question was how to comwas accomplished in some instances by promises of advancement, and in some by threats of discharge in case the demand was not complied with. Retween the threats and promises they succeeded in causing most of the Republican members to contribute the amount asked.

PRESIDENT'S DAY AT THE FORTNIGHTLY.

Following the custom which has been adopted by most of the clubs for the first meeting of the year, the Fortnightly Literary Club ushered in the season of 1893-94 with an observance of president's day. The form of the entertainment, which is partly social and partly literary, yesterday was a banquet. The members and a few out-of-town guests were received in the west parior of the Prophylaum by Mrs. Solomon Claypool, the retiring president, and Mrs. Edward Dean, the new incumbent, and the committee which had made the arrangements for the day-Mrs. John T. Dye, Mrs. Chester Bradford, Miss Alice Finch, Miss Florence Malott and Miss Elizabeth Dye. After all had assembled they were conducted to the east parlor where the banquet was served. The company were seated at a long table set in the form of a "T." with covers for forty. The table was decorated in white and green and at each cover was a programme of the exercises ornamentally designed and printed. Only a light feast was served, the main feature of the banquet being a mental menu. At the last of the six courses Mrs. Clay pool made a graceful address, and as the one who was to relinguish the pleasant duties of the office to another she introduced her successor, Mrs. Edward Deap. Mrs. Deap responded happily and then took the position of toastmistress and introduced the members of the club who were to contribute to the enjoyment with responses. To the subject "The Club," Mrs. Joseph S. Jenckes made answer: to "The Ideal Club Woman," Miss Laura Ream; "The Obstreperous Woman," Miss Elizabeth Dye; "The Club Woman at the Fair," Mrs. Jacob P. Dunn; "The Downtrodden Sex." Mrs. Albert Rabb. The teasts were given to some of the brightest woman in the club and the treatment which they gave to the several subjects fully justified the committee in receiving the many complimentary expressions which they received in regard to the great success of the entertainment. The first regular meeting of the club will be held the afternoon of the 26th, in the east parlor of the Prop-

THE MISSES THOMPSON'S RECEPTION. Misses Carrie and Blanche Thompson gave a delightful reception yesterday afternoon, at their home, on Central avenue, in honor of Miss Barry, of Georgia, who is the guest of Miss Elizabeth Cooper. About one hundred invitations were issued to the young married and young ladies, and there were very few regrets. The spacious pariors were handsomely adorned for the event. The reception room was beautified with palms and pink roses. The prevailing tint of the room is pink, and the decorations were in harmony. The guests were welcomed by the hostesses and Miss Barry. assisted by Miss Irene Florian, of San Antonio. They were gowns of pink and white. In the second room the color was red, and palms and red roses were used. In the swell window a large bowl was set amid palms and flowers and lemonade was served by Miss Georgia Taylor, assisted by Misses Stella and Edith Adams and Ethel Dorsey. Mrs. Frederick Gardner, Miss Elizabeth Cooper and Miss Mary Fletcher assisted in entertaining the guests. The long dining room was arranged for the serving of dainty refreshments. A table was adorned with white and green and filled with the most exqueite glass and china set on beautifully wrought squares of fine linen. Mrs. Lewis Cooper presided at the table and she was assisted by Miss Anna Fraser, Miss Nelle Blitz and Miss May Thompson. Throughout the house there were bandsome lamps and candelabra shedding a pleasant glow over the whole. In the evening the Misses Thompson entertained the ladies who had assisted and a few gentlemen informally.

THE PREMIER WORKS

Probate Commissioner Advises a Test of the $300,000 Mortgage.

Oueer Real-Estate Deal in Court-A Small Girl's Bravery-In the Supreme Court-Miscellany.

Commissioner O'Bryan yesterday re ported to the Circuit Court the result of his examination of the report of Receiver Mo-Gettigan, of the Premier steel works. The Commissioner's examination of the accounts showed them to be correct, and they were so reported to the court. He also recommended action by the receiver, if he was the proper authority to institute the suits, to test the validity of the mortgage issued by the company to secure the bonded indebtedness of $300,000. The bonds and mortgage are dated August, 1891, but the mortgage was not filed till a few days before the appointment of the receiver. The bonds are neld by H. E. Southwell, of Chicago, and C. W. DePauw, the latter holding $200,000 as security for his indorsement of the paper of the company. It is also recommended that the receiver bring suit to test the validity of the sale to the company by N. T. and C. W. DePauw of the Adams patent for reducing iron ore. The patent was sold to the company by the DePauws for $850,000 in paid-up stock of the company, and the question of their liability to assessment upon this stock will also be presented. It is not certain whether the receiver is the proper person to bring these actions, and this question will be decided by the court before any action is taken upon the recommendations. The report of the Commissioner was immedistoly drawn from the files by the receiver's attorneys.

CAME TO HER MOTHER'S RESCUE. Little Eva Elzea Attacked a Man with

Stick of Stovewood. Before Justice Daniels David K. Shreves was yesterday convicted of assault and battery upon two affidavits, and fined $5 and costs in each case. The affidavits charged him with assault and battery upon Josie and Eva Elzea, the latter being the ten-year-old daughter of the former. Shreves occupies the first and the Elzeas the second floor of a house on the Michigan road, near Washington street. The residents of the upstairs portion of the house did something which displeased Shreves, and during the absence of Mr. Elzea he went upstairs and assaulted Mrs. Elzea. He seized her by the throat and threw her upon the floor and choked her. Her ten-year-old daughter came valiantly to the rescue with a piece of stove wood and struck her mother's assailant a blow upon the forehead with it which caused him to cease his attack upon the mother and turn his attention to the little girl. Shreves bore the mark of the blow from the stick of wood when he appeared in court yesterday.

IN THE SUPREME COURT.

A Few Decisions Yesterday-Several Important Cases Pending.

Yesterday three opinions from the Supreme Court and five from the Appellate were handed down. None of these decisions is of general importance. The Supreme and Appellate Courts, however, have started the grist, which will make some very important decisions before the term is completed.

Among some of the more important cases pending are the fee and salary case, which has never been advanced. The Columbia Athletic Club vs. Prosecuting Attorney McMayhan, of Lake county, is another. This case comes as an appeal from the interlocatory order from the Lake Circuit Court appointing a deputy sheriff as receiver. The case involving the law passed by the last Legislature allowing county commissioners to increase circuit and superior judges' salaries $1,500. Vigo county refused to do this; hence this suit. Another important case is the White county courthouse case, where the commissioners refused to improve the courthouse, whereupon Judge Revnoids, of that circuit, ordered $30,000 worth of improvements to be made, and the commissioners enjoined him from so doing. Then there is the Crawfordsville Pettit murder case and the Jennings county auditor case. All these and others will be decided during this term.

SAYS SHE WAS DEFRAUDED. Queer Real Estate Deal Brought to Light

by Esther A. Bristor's Suit. Esther A. Bristor filed suit in the Superior Court, yesterday, against David C. and Flora A. Cooper and George W. Bailey to compel the cancellation of a deed alleged to have been secured by fraud, to quiet title and for judgment in damages in the sum of $1,000. The plaintiff alleges that she is seventy-one years of age and, for several years past, has employed Bailey as confidential adviser to transact her business for her. She charges collusion between Bailey and Cooper whereby Cooper purchased from her certain real estate owned by her in this city. By the terms of the agreement the plaintiff exchanged the real estate owned by her and $600 in money for forty acres of land in Parke county. She charges that Bailey represented to her that the land was good coal land and could be immediately resold to a man named Armstrong at a profit of $2,000. The man Armstrong, she alleges, was a fictitious person and that Bailey took advantage of his relation as confidential adviser to induce her to make the exchange for the Parke county land, which, she alleges, has never been worked for coal, and were coal found upon it the land is so remotely situated from transportation facilities that it could only be operated at a loss.

MORGAN & QUINN RESTAURANT.

Various Chattel Mortgages Covering the Same Property. The Anheuser-Busch Brewing Association has filed suit against Morgan & Quinn to foreclose a chattel mortgage and joined James R. Ross and V. P. Evans as defendants to the suit. The brewing association alleges that on June 6, 1831, Morgan & Quinn executed their promissory note to Elizabeth June in the sum $1,250, payable two years after date. and in December following executed to Elizabeth June a chattel mortgage to secure this note. The note and mortgage was afterwards transferred to the brewing association. This note is due and unpaid. On Dec. 11, 1801, Morgan & Quinn executed three notes to the brewing association, of the aggregate value of $3,750, the last of which will be due in December, 1894, and secured these notes by chattel mortgage on the same property covered by the former mortgage. The brewing association ask that they be given judgment against Morgan & Quinn for $2,000, and that their property be sold to satisfy the mortg ages executed by them.

In the Criminal Court, yesterday afternoon, Martin Morgan was placed on trial before a jury for assault and battery with intent to kill. Morgan was indicted jointly with William Shannon for an assault on George Hofer, a shoemaker, at 167 South Alabama street. On the night of July 28, Morgan and Shannon called Hofer from his house, and assaulted him with a shoemakers' "long stick," inflicting a painful wound on the back of the head. Shannon left the city, and has not since been arrested. He is the same person who was arrested for perjury in making a false athi-

Wanted to Prove a "Lullaby."

Henry Miller, colored, was fined $25 and costs and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary by Judge Cox yesterday for stealing the money drawer from the restaurant of Mrs. Margaret Dady, at No. 66 North Delaware street, Miller claimed that he would be able to prove a "lullaby" if he could subpon a the witnesses who went fishing with him upon the day of the alleged theft. The State was willing to admit that the witnesses would testify to what Miller said they would and the case went to trial by the court and resulted in

Had Qurreied Over a Husband,

Mary Kirk was tried and acquitted in Justice Habich's court yesterday afternoon. She was arrested upon the affidavit of Carrie Hicks charging her with assault and battery. It developed during the trial that the Kirk woman accused the other of stealing her husband and in the quarrel which ensued the Hicks woman chastised Mrs. Kirk. The latter had her arrrested and she was fined by Justice Daniels. Then, to get "even," the Hicks woman had the other arrested.

Wants the Divorce Decree Modified. Edgar Johnson yesterday filed a petition in Room 2 of the Superior Court for the modification of a decree of divorce entered against him upon the suit of Cora M. Johnson. In the original decree the plaintiff was given custody of their child, and Johnson now asks that this be modified so as to give him custody of the child. He alleges that his former wife is an improper person to have the care of the child, and neglects its education.

Another Garbage Decision, In the Circuit Court, yesterday morning, Judge Brown overruled the demurrer to the complaint for injunction in the garbage cases. The demorrer had been exhaustively argued, and the decision is an adherence to the opinion expressed by Judge Brown upon a former demurger.
